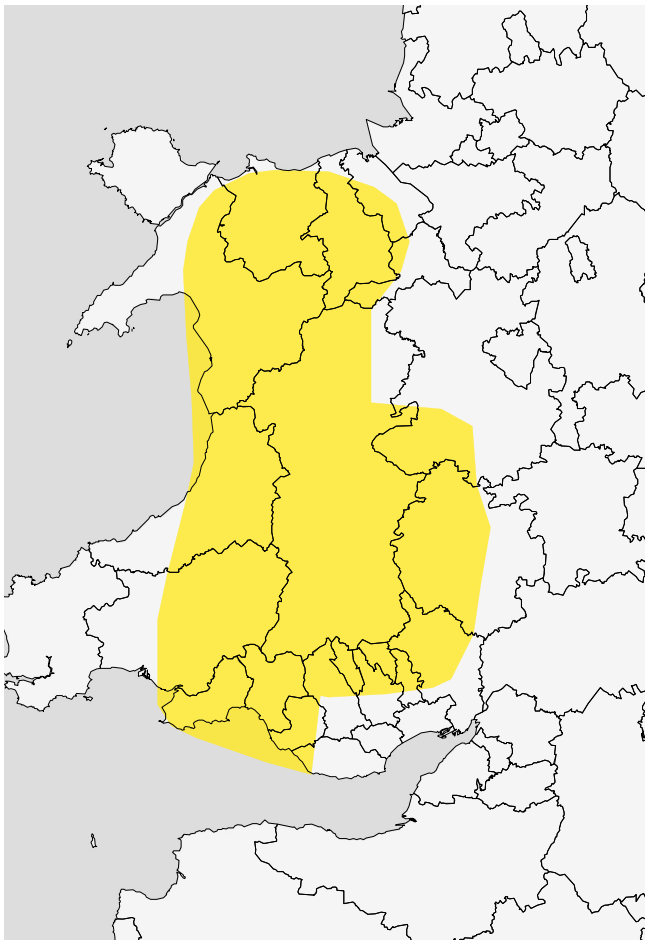
Yellow warning
Snow & Ice

Between
18:18 Tue 19 Nov 2024 and
10:00 Wed 20 Nov 2024



Ice and snow may lead to difficult travelling conditions on Tuesday evening, overnight and during Wednesday morning.

What to expect

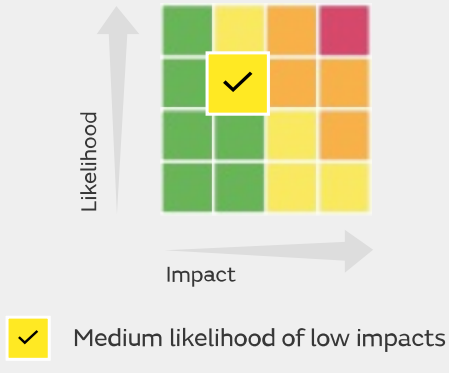
- Some roads and railways likely to be affected with longer journey times by road, bus and train services
- Some injuries from slips and falls on icy surfaces
- Probably some icy patches on some untreated roads, pavements and cycle paths

Further details

Following earlier rain and snow, ice is likely to readily form on untreated surfaces under clearing skies this evening. Further snow showers are likely to affect northern parts of Wales later in the night and through Wednesday morning. Some lying snow is likely with 1-2 cm in places and a risk of up to 5 cm over higher ground.

What should I do?

Snowy, wintry weather can cause delays and make driving conditions dangerous. Keep yourself and others safe by planning your route, giving yourself extra time for your journey.



Medium likelihood of low impacts

Yellow warning
Snow & Ice

Between
18:18 Tue 19 Nov 2024 and
10:00 Wed 20 Nov 2024

Further Details (continued)

Check for road closures or delays to public transport and amend plans if necessary.

Keep yourself and your family safe when it is icy. Plan to leave the house at least five minutes earlier than normal. Not needing to rush, reduces your risk of accidents, slips, and falls.

If driving, make sure you have some essentials in your car in the event of any delays (e.g., warm clothing, food, water, a blanket, a torch, ice scraper/de-icer, a warning triangle, high visibility vest and an in-car phone charger).

If you need to make a journey on foot, try to use pavements along main roads which are likely to be less slippery. Similarly, if cycling, try and stick to main roads which are more likely to have been treated.

Be prepared for weather warnings to change quickly: when a weather warning is issued, the Met Office recommends staying up to date with the weather forecast in your area.
